

Good Morning Parents,

We are happy to be teaching and assisting from afar. We will miss spending time with the students but do hope you are enjoying them 😊.

We will be sending daily plans every morning for the students to complete. We know that they do not have their books on them, so we will be sending them snapshots from their textbooks and worksheets to be printed and completed. Also, if you have a new copybook/notebook, all other work can be done in it instead of several books or on pages. This makes it easier for you to keep track as well as we will be able to correct all work in the same place.

Please have students date each page and complete the assigned work. Feel free to contact us at any time via email or WhatsApp if any assistance is needed.

We will also be linking a math website in which students can be doing revision while having fun.

Thank you for your support in these unusual circumstances and please keep safe.

And last but certainly not least, please extend our love to our students.

Always,
Mrs. HJ, Ms. Mc Intyre & Mrs. Silva
